GROUPS

Instructions for Members

Instructions for non-Members \(Invited Experts\)

INSTRUCTIONS FOR MEMBERS

For each W3C group there is:

1. A form for joining the group
2. Instructions for joining the group (for both Members and non-Members)

Those resources are linked from any call for participation in the group and the list of groups.

A Member's Advisory Committee Representative joins any group (that is more than a mailing list) on behalf of that Member. If you wish to join a group, please first contact your Advisory Committee Representative.

Here are the general instructions for Advisory Committee Representatives (assuming they have a W3C account; if not please complete the Member Access Request Form):

1. Read the group charter
2. Complete the form for joining that group. Note: Once you have joined a group, the same URI is used to offer a form to leave the group.
3. Nominate one or more individuals to represent your organization in the group; the link to that form is available from the "join" form.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR NON-MEMBERS (INVITED EXPERTS)

An individual becomes an Invited Expert in a group as follows:

- The Chair and Team Contact hold preliminary discussions with the individual.
- The individual provides the information required of an Invited Expert as follows:
 - If you do not already have a W3C Access Account login and password (check if there is an account associated with your address), complete the Public Access Request Form.
 - After you receive your W3C login name and password, complete the W3C Invited Expert Application (which refers to the Invited Expert and Collaborators Agreement).
- The Team Contact reviews the request. If participation in the Group requires access to the W3C Member Web site, review of the application by W3C Management is required, following the internal

O W3C Brasil e o Comitê Gestor da Internet no Brasil lançam a segunda edição do Prêmio Nacional de Acessibilidade na Web - todos@web. O sucesso da primeira edição foi a força impulsionadora para dar continuidade nessa ação de promover e premiar ações em favor da acessibilidade na web. A participação é muito mais do que um prêmio. É o reconhecimento público do trabalho em prol da acessibilidade na web.

Todos@Web - Prêmio Nacional de Acessibilidade na Web tem como objetivo promover nacionalmente a acessibilidade na web, de forma a conscientizar desenvolvedores e homenagear ações em prol do acesso de pessoas com deficiências na web.
